

Mary Bleckwehl has a Masters Degree in Educational Management from Lesley University in Cambridge, Massachusetts and a B.S. in Elementary Education from Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa. She has taught in in Iowa and Minnesota and has held administrative positions in higher education in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Iowa and Minnesota.

Bleckwehl grew up in a large farm family with few books in the home. She quickly learned, when she began school, that both magic and knowledge blossomed in words and enthusiastically grabbed every opportunity to read, write and share the joy and meaning of story.

Together with her husband, Bleckwehl has raised a daughter and two sons and lives in Northfield, Minnesota. She regularly presents at young writer conferences and in schools as a visiting author. She has a passion for promoting literacy and inspiring young readers and writers.